Cut, Ribs Cracked

Injured Truman Cheerful, Alert

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman awoke in a jovial mood today despite two cracked ribs and a forehead gash suffered in a fall in the bathroom of his home.

A hospital spokesman said Truman read the morning newspaper, after awaking early as usual, and had his customary dietary breakfast of orange juice, toast and bacon.

A medical advisory said the former President's "neurological reflexes are good and the right eye is clearing." It added

And never a better time for it as Curt Simmons tangles with Jim Bouton in what should be the last game of the series.

You'll know, of course, even before reading this. But for one reason or another we just have to string along with the Cards, advice from Joe Browne, Bernie Glaser, Beatrice Badner, Art Hecht and Jack Scullin notwithstanding.

Pennsylvania declares a "state of emergency" on all state highways after the last weekend of traffic carnage involving the lives of 22 people.

State officials still undecided what to do about the rising tide of highway deaths, but they shouldn't be.

The solution is and must be in absolute law enforcement. And the sooner Pennsylvania and New Jersey and the rest of our sisterhood of states understand this the better.

Former President Harry Truman injured, not seriously, in a fall in the bathtub.

Bathtubs really dangerous gadgets to have around the house. Nobody seems to understand this but the young fry who, from time immemorial, have been shying away from 'em.

ARSENAL SEIZED, 2 ARRESTED

Man Sought In Reported Threat On Life Of LBJ

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.

(UPI) — A reported threat to assassinate President Johnson led sheriff's deputies Tuesday night and today to an arsenal including weapons as big as a field mortar and a collection of Nazi relics.

The deputies arrested Julius Schmidt, 29, a plumber and gun trader, and another unidentified man who worked on guns. Deputies and police still sought the man who made the reported threat—a former mental patient believed to be in the Corpus Christi area.

"I do not believe there was a plot to kill the President, but I do think that one individual made such a statement (to kill the President) to an informant I trust 100 per cent," Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell said today.

Two Not Involved
President Johnson is due in Corpus Christi Sunday to make a campaign speech.

Mitchell said Schmidt and the other man arrested were not involved in a plot. He said his informant told him that the man who threatened the President intended to buy a gun from Schmidt but had not made the attempt.

Schmidt was arrested to cut off the man's "source of supply," Mitchell said the man wanted a "fully automatic weapon" and he will look for three or four other persons who have automatic weapons. Mitchell said he was taking no chances.

"I want to cut off his possible source of supply," Mitchell said. "There is a possibility the threat on the President's life could have been serious knowing the type of man he (the suspect) is."

Schmidt and the other prisoner were scheduled for arraignment today before U.S. Commissioner (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

Fullam Is Elected By College Board, Vows 'Full Speed'

By JIM STANTON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bucks County Judge John P. Fullam last night pledged that the board of trustees will "move full speed ahead" in hopes of opening the Bucks County Community College in September 1965.

The 42-year-old jurist was elected chairman of the board at an organization meeting in Doylestown.

"There are certainly lots of problems to be solved," the judge said, "but we haven't foreclosed the possibility (of an early opening)." Judge Fullam said that a 1965 opening would depend on whether the board could find temporary facilities.

Site, Building Committee

At the same time, Fullam said, a site and building committee will search for a location at which permanent buildings will be constructed.

Other officers elected last night were Stephen B. Hazard of Warrington, vice chairman; Mrs. Kenneth W. Gemmill of Jamison, secretary; and Elmer C. Capes, Chalfont, treasurer.

Fullam was appointed to the Common Pleas bench in 1960. Prior to that he ran twice for Congress unsuccessfully on the Democratic ticket. He is a founder and former president of the Family Service Association and a member of the Child Welfare Advisory Committee.

The board of trustees drew lots to decide terms of office and immediately began laying the groundwork for the new institution. It was decided to set up three committees with the members to be appointed by Fullam.

Drawing lots for six-year terms were: County Commissioner Joseph O. Canby, County School Superintendent Dr. George E. Raab, Frank F. Flatch, David R. Johnson and Judge Fullam.

Dries' Give Scholarship

A Bristol Township man and his wife last night informed the Bucks County Community College board of trustees that they plan to grant an annual $500 scholarship to a needy student planning to attend the institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dries of N. Radcliffe St., asked that the scholarship be known as the Eva and Louis Dries Memorial Scholarship.

Discretion of Board

Dries, a furniture and car distributor, instructed that the board alone have the discretion of choosing the recipient.

"A scholarship is granted at this time with the hope that it will serve as an impetus for other individuals and institutions to aid needy youngsters in our county seeking a higher education," Dries said.

Dries is president of the Lower Bucks Senior Citizens, a member of the Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce, a director of Pennryn School in Andalusia and honorary chairman of the Lower Bucks Combined Jewish Appeal.

Nueces County Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell stands with weapons, after acting on a tip that an attempt would be made to assassinate President Johnson, in Corpus Christi, Texas, Sunday. The sheriff's Department has arrested an ex-convict, and seized ammunition and weapons found at the man's house. (UPI Telephoto)

Third Negro To Win

Martin Luther King Wins Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., American Negro civil rights leader, won the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize today.

King, the leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), became the 12th American and the third Negro to win the award.

King's candidacy was sponsored by political figures in Europe and the United States and by newspapers of all political leanings in Norway.

The Nobel Prize winner is appointed by the Norwegian National Assembly. It is made from a secret list of 20 to 30 names.

Other names reported to have been on this years list were those of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former British Prime Minister Lord Avon (Sir Anthony Eden), French President Charles de Gaulle and former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

At 35, King also was one of the youngest men ever to win the prize.

The first American to win the prize was President Theodore Roosevelt in 1906. The most recent was nuclear physicist and anti-nuclear campaigner Linus Pauling, who won the 1962 prize last year after it had been deferred for a year. Other American winners included President Woodrow Wilson, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and U.N. Under Secretary General Ralph Bunche, first Negro to be awarded the prize.

South African civil rights leader Chief Albert Luthuli was the second Negro to win the award.

The peace prize for 1963 went to the International Red Cross. The Nobel Peace Prize winner is selected each year by a committee of the Norwegian Parliament under the terms of the will of the Swedish dynamite magnate Alfred Nobel.

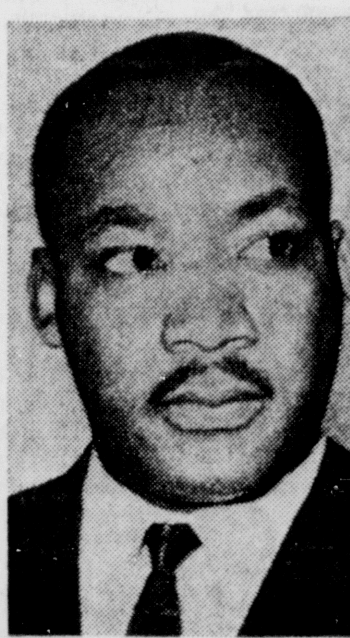

The other Nobel prizes — in physics, chemistry, medicine and physiology, and literature — will be chosen by the Nobel committee in Stockholm and will be announced later.

The Peace prize, worth $54,600, will be awarded Dec. 10 at Oslo University in the presence of Norwegian King Olaf V.

The Nobel Committee, as usual, gave no reason for its choice.

But it was no secret King, a Baptist minister and co-pastor with his father of the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta, was cited for his leadership of the American Negro cause.

King was in a hospital bed in Atlanta today when he learned he had won the award. Mrs. King, a former concert singer, called her husband at the St. Joseph Infirmary, which he entered yesterday "thoroughly exhausted" from a heavy schedule of speaking engagements and a trip to Europe.

Mrs. King said her husband said, "Well really," when she informed him he was the winner. She said he could not quite believe he had won, and asked her, "How do you know?"

The new Nobel Prize winner is head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. A student of Mohandas K. Gandhi's passive resistance movement in India, he concluded that the tactic of "non-violence" could be the most effective weapon against racial segregation in the United States.

Pa. To Pay Portion Of Jobless Loan

HARRISBURG (UPI)—Minus pain or strain, the state expects to send the federal government a $37.5 million check on Nov. 10.

The remittance will be the second installment in liquidation of $192 million in loans obtained by Pennsylvania in 1958 to keep the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund from going broke and pay temporary extended benefits to the long term jobless.

But the painless payment will make more of a dent in the huge advances than it will in the once - brittle fund. Even shrunk by $37.5 million, the jobless pay coffers are expected to post a year-end balance of $223 million, a full $93 million in strictly state money. The outstanding debt will be down to $130 million, with four years remaining to pay it off.

At the end of 1963, the fund contained just $156 million, $11 million shy of the total then (and now) owed the federal government.

Fund Building Up

By all signs, the big payment is an illustration that the fund, while still a long way from its desired level, is snapping back at a good pace from the recession battering of the late 1950's and subsequent periods when Pennsylvania's recovery lagged behind the rest of the nation.

From fragmentary evidence collected by state officials, it appears that the rapidity of the build-up must be credited to the almost spectacular economic upturn of recent months. But the same partial returns indicate the controversial collection of benefit restrictions and employer tax boosts enacted last March by the legislature under the prodding of Gov. William W. Scranton is contributing its anticipated share.

However, because of the coincidental timing of the two factors and the comparative youth of the revisions, the experts report it may be months before they can tell where each begins and ends.

Benefit Payments Decline

By far the most significant statistic offered by Jack B. Brown, director of the Bureau of Employment Security, is the impact of the improved economy on jobless benefits. As late as March, he had figured a $250 million payout for 1964, without a single change in the law. He now pegs that figure at $200 million.

The benefit revisions which took effect July 1 are expected to net the fund a six - month saving of $10 to $15 million, a third to a half of the $28 million estimated gain from this category.

It all adds up to a predicted payout of $185 to $190 million, compared with about $236 million for all of 1963.

Employer Contributions

On the income side of the ledger, Brown estimates contributions based on 1964 will come to between $308 and $313 million as against $268 million for 1963. Higher employer contributions were expected to produce $35 million more this year. Rolled back to Jan. 1 by the law, they stretched out the tax base from the first $3,000 to the first $3,600 of the amount earned annually by each employee.

Site For Airport Opposed By Buehl

Ernest H. Buehl, the Flying Dutchman, is objecting to the Maple Point site in Middletown Township for the Lower Bucks airport.

Buehl has sent a letter to the Federal Aviation Agency's Air Space Branch which argues that the new field would be "a hazard" to air traffic arriving and leaving his airport which is 6,000 feet south of the Maple Point site.

The proposed field would be built on the property surrounded by Langhorne - Yardley, Township Line, Big Oak and Woodbourne Roads.

John C. Elfman, chairman of the Bucks County Airport Authority, has said that final approval of the site would come when the air approaches to the field were made to conform to the National Airport Plan. The FAA set tomorrow as the final date for accepting objections based on air traffic problems. Commenting on the proposed location, Buehl said that the Middletown supervisors in January, 1963 denied his request to have his tract rezoned as an airport facility by a three-to-two vote because of the danger of falling aircraft to the residents. Buehl's tract, which is licensed by the state as a private airport, was among sites considered by the Bucks County authority for the new airport.

Brigham CD Tenure Brief

Richard S. Brigham has left the post of Civil Defense Director of Middletown Township after only two weeks of service. Brigham was acting as Civil Defense director pending the actual appointment by Gov. William Scranton. He had been nominated for the post by the township supervisors and township manager before he withdrew.

Brigham, who will return to the township police force, said he found the office work "too confining" and wanted to get back to the police force and "in the field."

The vacancy was originally created when Mark Edwards resigned as the Civil Defense Director to become the highway superintendent. Harry Bischo resigned as highway superintendent last August in order to take a job as the supervisor of engineering in Cherry Hill Township, N. J.

Brigham would have started at a salary $6,300 in the Civil Defense post.

Recruit Dies Of Meningitis

FT. ORD, Calif. (UPI) — A 22-year-old recruit died of meningitis at Ft. Ord yesterday. The toll of the disease at the Army training center raised to 14 dead and 85 stricken this year.

The death of Gordon H. Baker Jr., Whittier, Calif., came just two days after Pentagon ordered district quarantine measures at the post to combat the disease, which also has been traced from Ft. Ord to three of four recent cases in the San Francisco Bay area. One of those was fatal.

Gimbel Leaves, Look To Macy's

NEW YORK (UPI)—Deprived of a Gimbel, Mayor Robert F. Wagner looked to Macy's for a replacement for a seat on the city's temporary commission on city finances.

The mayor Tuesday appointed David L. Yumich, president of Macy's, New York department store, to the commission to succeed Bernard Gimbel, chairman of Gimbel's, who resigned because of the crush of other business.

Children Set Car On Fire

Three children playing with matches were blamed yesterday for setting a car on fire in the parking lot of George T. Fleming and Sons, Rambler dealer, 821 Bristol Pike, Bristol.

Fire Chief William Bolton reported two boys, five and seven years old, and a girl, five, set fire to the automobile of John H. Reed, Trenton, an employee. Bolton said the car was gutted by flames and destroyed.

The children were apprehended by Patrolman Michael Pierendozzi and released into the custody of their parents.

HARRISBURG (UPI)—State Traffic Safety Commissioner Harry Brainerd said today he may have to take "some very drastic and emergency measures" if the mid-fall upsurge continues in Pennsylvania highway deaths.

Deeply worried by the third straight high fatality weekend, Brainerd admitted he was not sure of what the action would be.

But he said steps being considered could include more comprehensive highway patrols, and stricter standards for drivers' licenses and financial responsibility among others.

As an initial step, Brainerd said he has passed the word to his staff warning personnel to maintain a tough license suspension policy against offenders. "No leniency is going to be granted," he said.

Brainerd said his order did not represent a new policy but a reinforcement of existing policy under the toughened suspension schedule inaugurated last spring.

"All I'm doing is making certain that we follow the schedule as written," he said. "This is notice that we are following this thing strictly."

Under the state procedure, offending drivers are given hearings before bureau examiners who then recommend if their licenses should be lifted or retained. Final decision is up to the commissioner.

The Morrisville police department may soon get a new, fresh look.

Last night, Morrisville Borough Council decided to get bids on a 1965 car and to purchase police coats for the winter.

The council, meeting in borough hall, passed a motion to authorize the solicitor to advertise for bids for the new police car.

The council also adopted another motion to authorize the purchase of five police coats for the five part-time police officers recently hired.

The coats will cost $40 each for a total of $200, according to the motion.

Ike Is 74, Talks Golf

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who celebrates his 74th birthday today, revealed one of Arnold Palmer's golfing secrets while chatting with reporters and photographers Tuesday.

He said he planned to paint the head of his favorite putter black.

"Arnold Palmer told me about that," said Eisenhower, who has golfed on several occasions with the pro great. "He lets his get rusty, but I'm going to paint mine. It cuts down the sun glare when you're trying to line up a putt."

As for his birthday, the former President said he plans to celebrate it by working "a full day" in his office on the campus of Gettysburg College. He said there were no plans for family parties.

"We (Eisenhower and his wife) will dine with the Nevins Wednesday night," he said. "They're old Army friends of over 30 or 40 years. I met him in 1917. By gosh, that's 47 years."

Bride-To-Be Saves Self Embarrassment

MESSINA, Sicily (UPI)—Meek-looking Aldo Donati, 42, was arrested in church. Police said the wedding could not go on because he already had been married 11 times and never divorced.

His bride-to-be, a 24-year-old school teacher, saved herself the embarrassment of being left standing at the altar. She fainted.

That was last weekend. Donati maintained a steadfast silence in jail today. But fascinating police reports about him were coming in from elsewhere.

Police said that at various times Donati had passed himself off as a doctor, space scientist, German army officer and Hungarian refugee.

In Milan, he had practiced medicine, had degrees from the universities of Rome, Vienna and Frankfurt.

Letters were coming in from his wives, too. Not all of them were critical. Diana Frizzi of Milan wrote, "I think I am his first wife." She said she hoped to get an annulment.

Leonilde Pace, also of Milan, wrote that Donati "changed jobs too frequently" but had been "a devoted and generous husband."

Assessment Battle 3 Agencies Appeal Fairless Tax Cut

Appeals were filed yesterday against the $32,000,000 tax assessment reduction of U.S. Steel's Fairless Works.

Filing the appeals in Bucks County Court were Falls Township supervisors the Falls Township School Board, and the Bucks County Board of Assessment.

The assessment reduction had been ordered by Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite in August following an 11-day hearing. The reduction covered the years from 1960 to 1963.

Latest In Series
This latest in a series of appeals and counter appeals goes back to 1957 will be heard by the court sitting en banc (all of the county's Common Pleas judges sitting).

Milton Berkes, chairman of the Falls supervisors, said today the township's appeal was the first step in a move to bring the case before the state Supreme Court.

Fairless claimed at the hearing that its assessment over the four-year period was "grossly excessive." In rendering his decision, Judge Satterthwaite cited obsolescence of some of the plant's facilities, and said the county board of assessment failed to consider recent economic and technical developments affecting the steel industry.

Unless the judge's decision is reversed, the assessment slash is expected to have wide-ranging effects on the township's tax structure.

The school board and the supervisors listed in their appeals 198 separate exceptions to Judge Satterthwaite's 93-page opinion. The boards claimed the steel company failed to prove that the assessments were excessive, and that its evidence of "fair market value" was improper in that it excluded items subject to taxation.

Raps Lower Makefield Falls Waives Fees On School Building

The Falls Township Board of Supervisors last night waived building permit fees for the new Pennsburg High School, Fairless Hills, then took a slap at Lower Makefield for imposing similar fees in the past.

In waiving the fees, the board said it was "wrong and improper" to impose fees on another taxing body. "It's robbing one pocket to fill another," the board claimed. The Pennsburg School District is thus spared an outlay of up to $3,000.

The board issued a strong statement that it expected Lower Makefield to also waive building fees for any future school construction in that township. It scored Lower Makefield for charging such fees in the past despite urgings by the Falls board to waive them.

"We complained, but they charged the fees anyway," Milton Berkes, chairman of the Falls supervisors, said last night. He termed Lower Makefield's action "grossly unfair."

In other business, the board voted to re-enact Act 78 for 1965 which allows a municipality to assess newly constructed buildings after the tax books are closed and receive partial tax payments for the particular year.

The new law was used by Falls for the first time this year with an estimated additional tax income of $4-$5,000.

Escaping Assessment
In the past, builders have sometimes delayed putting the finishing touches on new houses — leaving off doorknobs, etc. — until the tax rolls have closed, thus escaping assessment until the following tax year.

In other action, the board: — Granted a six-month extension to Sweetbriar Apartments for beginning construction of another section. According to township law, each new section must be started within six months after the first occupancy permit of the previous section.

— Appointed Mary Hill as a crossing guard for William Penn Junior High School and the intersection of Andover and Trenton Roads, both Fairless Hills, and Mrs. Ann Heim as a substitute guard.

— Appointed Clinton Raphun to the plumbing board to replace Richard Williams who resigned, and — Authorized Berkes and Franklin Kirby, Falls police chief, to attend the institute on local government responsibility in racial and community tensions to be held Nov. 8 and 9 at the State Police Academy, Hershey, Pa.

Truck Rams Utility Pole In Township

Frank Schrader told police he was rounding a curve when a truck backed out of a roadway. He swerved his ice cream truck to avoid hitting the auto, but wound up crashing into a utility pole.

The mishap occurred at 7:15 p.m. yesterday on Green Lane at Norton Ave., Bristol Township.

Schrader, 35, of 344½ Lincoln Ave., Bristol, was driving a truck owned by William L. Bower, 2806 Nice St., Newportville.

Sandra Shirley, 18, of the Bristol address, suffered whip-lash injuries and contusions of the back. She was a passenger in the truck. She was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Levittown - Fairless Hills Rescue Squad for treatment.

Group Names Mrs. Hutton

Ann Hawkes Hutton, author-chairman of the Washington Crossing Park Commission, has been elected a director of the Historical Foundation of Pennsylvania. The basic purpose is to help, within the limits of its financial structure, some 60 major historical societies engaged in constructive efforts on behalf of Pennsylvania's incomparable heritage.

Mrs. Hutton stated, "An example of the tremendous increase in interest in historical sites is the visitor attendance record this past Sunday at the Thompson - Neely House in Washington Crossing State Park where 1,126 people went through the house in four hours, making Oct. 11 the high point of the 11-year period it has been open to the public."

Sign For Draft, Vietnamese Told

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Vietnamese air force loud-speaker planes flew over Saigon last night warning young men to register for the draft or face criminal prosecution.

The 200,000-man Vietnamese army is operating below strength. The United States, which is spending $2 million a day here on the anti-Communist war, has urged strict enforcement of the draft law.

Barry Says 'Obstruction Of Justice'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater followed up a "fascist" charge against the Democratic party today by accusing President Johnson of "obstruction of justice" in the Bobby Baker case.

The Republican presidential nominee moved into the home territory of former Democratic President Harry S. Truman in a second day of Midwestern campaigning this week. Truman was famed for his "give 'em hell" campaign in 1948 and Goldwater avowedly was doing the same as his election race neared its end.

"Give 'em hell, Barry," a supporter shouted at Des Moines, Iowa, one of Goldwater's stumping stops Tuesday.

"That's what I'm trying to do," Goldwater replied amid roaring approval.

The senator climaxed his effort Tuesday night before a wildly cheering throng of some 8,000 supporters who paid $50 apiece to hear him at the Milwaukee Arena. He used a local issue—ouster of Milwaukee alderman Robert Dwyer by the Democratic party for supporting Goldwater — to denounce the Democrats as "fascist organization."

Goldwater's barnstorming schedule today included stops at Kansas City, Mo.; Omaha, Neb.; and Denver, Colo.

In a speech prepared for a rally at the Liberty Memorial Hall in Kansas City, Mo., today, Goldwater returned to the Bobby Baker issue which up to Tuesday night had highlighted his campaigning day.

Park Land Bond Filed

The Bucks County Commissioners yesterday agreed to file a $65,000 bond with county court guaranteeing payment for 23 acres of land at Oxford Valley Road and the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Bristol Township.

The property, condemned by the county, has been abandoned by the owner, Mrs. Mary Ponczek. The land will be used for park purposes.

The commissioners and the owner had not been able to reach a settlement and the matter has gone before a court-appointed jury of view.

The bond value doesn't necessarily indicate the final settlement price, Solicitor Samuel S. Gray pointed out.

The commissioners reached an agreement with the purchase of 10 acres of land in Northampton Township for $13,500. The property is near the Churchville Reservoir and will be included in the county's park program for that area.

Encephalitis Hits 4 More In S. Jersey

TRENTON (UPI)—South Jersey's encephalitis epidemic burgeoned to 85 cases today as four more patients were reported by the state Health Department.

The department announced a five-year old boy from Mt. Holly, a 60-year old woman from Marlton, a 59-year old man from Cherry Hill Township and a 38-year old man from Mantua had been added to the list.

None of the newly reported cases became ill later than Oct. 5, the department emphasized.

It said the peak times for contracting the disease, which is spread by mosquitoes, were the weeks of Sept. 13 and Sept. 20. No new deaths were reported. No new areas were involved.

The Mantua case was the second to be reported from Gloucester County. The other patient is from Westville.

The four cases brought to seven the total added to the list this week.

Fifty-one of the 85 cases have been confirmed and the others are listed as "suspected."

With the unanimous approval of the Bristol Borough Council, borough policemen will be allowed "daylighting" activities.

The cops have been plugging for permission to work at other jobs during off-duty hours. After some months of deliberation the council relented Monday night and voted to allow all borough police, with the exception of Chief Vincent Faragalli, to accept jobs as school bus drivers.

Faragalli will continue with his usual daytime job as Chief, and his usual "moonlighting" activities as Chief.

Going To Enter Soap Box Derby? Check Rule Changes

Some Important Revisions Have Been Made For 1965 Competition

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Boys planning on entering the 1965 Lower Bucks Soap Box Derby better take a good look at some important changes that have been made in the rules.

The changes — designed to encourage greater ingenuity in the use of modern materials and techniques by boy coasting car builder-drivers — have been announced by David G. Rummel, general manager of the All-American.

250 Local Races

All revisions for 1965 affect approximately 250 local races and the All-American championship next August at Akron, Ohio and are established to further assure safety and fair play for the contestants, Rummel said.

The official '65 Derby rules were formulated and passed by the 22-man national rules committee after a study of recommendations from numerous local Derby directors across the country.

Available Soon

The official Soap Box Derby rule books will soon be available to boys wanting to build a racer for the 1965 Lower Bucks Derby. Boys, between the ages of 11 and 15 years, living in Lower Bucks and attending school in LBCL, are eligible to compete in the eighth annual local championship sponsored by the Courier-Times and cooperating Chevrolet dealers.

Major revisions for 1965 are:

COST LIMIT — The total cost of the car shall not exceed $25e exclusive of the wheels, axles, steering assembly and paint. (Previously the cost limit was $20.)

REGISTRATION — To compete a boy must enter the authorized Soap Box Derby whose franchised area includes his home and must register with a sponsoring Chevrolet dealer within that same franchised area.

WEIGHT — The car may be built up to maximum weight of boy and car (250 pounds) by the use of WOOD, which must be built into the body or chassis of the car. Metal may be used to increase the weight of the car if it is considered desirable; if used, it must be securely attached or built into the car in such a way as to meet all safety requirements of the inspection committee. The metal work and construction and the use of metal must be done solely by the contestant. It may not be machined or in any way worked other than by the contestant.

WHEELS AND AXLES — Axle shafts may be reinforced, but must not rotate.

BRAKE OPERATION — The brake must be operated by a foot pedal designed so as to facilitate inspection of the racer. Plywood or hardwood make good brake pedals; softer wood is not recommended. Hand, hydraulic or mechanical brakes other than the single drag type are not permitted. A plunger-type brake is not recommended, however, if used, the leading edge of the brake must be bevelled (slanted toward the rear of the car).

BRAKE FACING POSITION — The brake facing must be in the exact center of the width of the car. (Under the previous rule the brake face was required to be not more than 18 inches from the extreme rear of the car).

METHODS OF CONTROL — The steering wheel must operate to swing the front axle (on a king-pin through the axle or axletrees) only by means of cables attached to the front axle assembly. The steering cable, at the points of attachment to the axle or axletree, must be no more than two inches from the outer unmachined edge of the axle. (This would place the points of attachment approximately 12 1/4 inches from the king-pin). Any type of tiller-bar steering is prohibited.

STEERING SHAFT — The steering shaft must be at least 18 inches long, and must be horizontal or slightly sloping. The bottom of the steering shaft at the point of attachment to the steering wheel must be a minimum of 12 inches from the floor-board.

CONSTRUCTION OF BODY — The entire brake mechanism must be easily inspected in one of the following ways:

1. The rear of the cockpit area opening must be no less than six by six inches.

2. The top half of the car may be removable to permit inspection.

3. A section of the body must have dimensions of no less than six by six inches may be removable or hinged, and so placed that the entire brake assembly and its operation will be visible.

Interior Area

The interior area, from the cockpit forward to and including the front axle or axletree, must be completely open so that an unobstructed view is afforded of the entire king-pin assembly, as well as the front suspension system, if used.

None of these systems shall be boxed or housed in any type of enclosure that limits inspection.

COCKPIT — The sides of the cockpit must be open. The bottom of the opening must be not more than 15 inches from the ground (measured when the car is empty). The opening must be at least 14 inches wide at the narrowest part. (Under previous rules the above measurements were 13 and 10 inches, respectively).

Sections which previously prohibited the use of metal springs or metal parts that serve as springs, lead and transparent materials, are deleted from the 1965 rules.

Boys building cars for 1965 Derby competition should make a careful study of the new rules before designing and working on their racers. Youngsters who built racers in previous years and plan to enter them again in 1965 should check the 1965 rules, too, since modifications may be necessary in the car to make it acceptable under the new regulations.

Ivyland Resident Named Employment Office Mgr.

Frank J. Gallagher, a resident of Ivyland, has been promoted to the position of manager of the Levittown Office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service, an agency of the Bureau of Employment Security. He succeeds Joseph A. Alvarez, Jr., who was transferred to Philadelphia.

Gallagher, age 48, is married and has three children. He has been a career employee of the bureau for the past 19 years. His former position had been employment supervisor of its Levittown Office. At different times Gallagher had been an interviewer, counselor and unemployment compensation supervisor with the bureau.

Gallagher has been active in community activities. He is presently chairman of the Centennial Joint School Authority in Central Bucks County, of which he has been a member for the past 12 years. Also, he is treasurer of the Boy Scout Troop Committee in Ivyland.

Gallagher has been interested in veterans activities as a member of the American Legion, Houston Post, in Germantown, and had been a member of its executive board for several years. He is also a member of the Bucks County Industrial Management Club.

Coached Football

Prior to coming with the Bureau he coached football at St. Paul's High School in Scranton. He is a graduate of Notre Dame University where he played varsity football.

Gallagher's first statement as manager was to thank the employers in the Lower Bucks County Area for their cooperation in making known their opinions to his office. "By making their job needs known to the public employment office employers could ultimately lower the State Unemployment Compensation tax. This is because the drain on the Unemployment Compensation Fund could be decreased.

"By having more job openings, the local employment office could send recipients of Unemployment Compensation benefits to more jobs rather than continuing to pay benefits," he said.

Cars Hit, 3 Women Hurt

Three Philadelphia women were injured early today in a two-car collision in Trevose.

Taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Trevose Heights Rescue Squad were Yvonne King, 27, of 662 N. 57th St., operator of one of the vehicles, and her two passengers, Jean Clark, 28, of 5139 Arch St., and Theresa Hill, 22, of 6143 Haverford Ave. All were released after treatment.

The driver of the other car, David Blair, 20, of 6708 Large St., Philadelphia, was uninjured.

Bensalem Township police said the accident occurred at Street Road and Route 1 at 8:20 a.m.

The King auto had an estimated $275 in damages and Blair's car $75.

A senior at Woodrow Wilson High School, she will now represent Bucks in the state finals to be held Oct. 24 at Washington, Pa., the winner of which will receive a scholarship.

Man Acquitted Of Killing First Wife, Slays Second

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Howard Brock, acquitted of killing his first wife 18 years ago, apparently was driven to a triple murder yesterday when his second marriage wound up in the divorce courts.

Brock, 47, a World War II combat veteran and engineer, was found dead in his estranged wife's apartment. Nearby were the bodies of his wife, and adopted daughter and a sister-in-law.

The victim's throats had been slit. Brock had been shot in the head with a P-38 automatic.

Police theorized Brock murdered the women and then shot himself to death, making good a psychiatrist's prediction 18 years ago that "it could happen again."

This time the victims were Ann Brock, 40, her daughter, Linda, 16, and Mrs. Brock's sister, Mrs. Catherine Jordan, 39.

Brock was acquitted in 1947 by a Philadelphia jury of fatally stabbing his first wife, Mae, 11 times with a commando-type knife when he returned home from the war and discovered she wanted a divorce. A P-38 Walther automatic pistol—the same type which claimed Brock's life yesterday — was found in Brock's briefcase at the time of his arrest. He told police he had loaded the German pistol with the intention of killing himself.

Could Happen Again

During the Philadelphia trial Dr. Joseph C. Yaskin, professor of neurology at the University of Pennsylvania medical school, testified Brock had suffered a "psychotic explosion" and that it could happen again "if he had a wife who put him through the same wringer."

Police in Los Angeles believe it did happen again.

Los Angeles attorney Lee Schwartz said Mrs. Brock separated from her husband last July 23 and filed for divorce six days later.

"When she came to me she said her husband had killed his previous wife and that she was in fear of her life," said Schwartz. The couple reconciled for about two days after the divorce was filed and then separated again.

"He contested the divorce very much," said Schwartz. Mrs. Brock was against a reconciliation but she did it reluctantly.

Schwartz who described Brock as "cold, argumentative, and calculating," said he "came to odd conclusions."

"The way he talked he came to odd conclusions, by that I mean when you discussed matters with him, he was a difficult man to convince. He didn't seem logical but he was not irrational. He certainly needed psychiatric treatment," said Schwartz.

Lt. Robert E. Kearney and Det. Sgt. Frank Clatanoff theorized that Brock went to the 87th street apartment of his estranged wife yesterday and slashed the throat of his teenage adopted daughter while she was home alone, ill in bed.

Investigators said Mrs. Brock was murdered when she returned home from work at a restaurant to see her ailing daughter. Then Mrs. Jordan went to the apartment to check on her sister and became Brock's third victim, officers speculated.

Detectives said a disturbance was heard in the apartment about 3 a.m. — presumably the time that Linda was killed. Mrs. Jordan was murdered about seven hours later.

Neighbors said Brock went to the apartment Monday night to get two younger children, Anita, 12, and Donna, 6, and an argument with Mrs. Brock ensued.

Police said Brock and the younger children left, but he returned early yesterday morning. The deaths were believed to have occurred sometime after his return.

The younger children were found unharmed at the home of Brock's mother in nearby Gardena.

Philadelphia authorities told

United Press International that the Brock accused in the Sept. 23, 1946, slaying of his wife, Mae, was acquitted by a jury of 10 women and 2 men who deliberated only 63 minutes on Jan. 4, 1947.

This Brock was a combat soldier in Germany, who was discharged at Easter time in 1946. When he returned home, he found his home had been rented to strangers and his wife was missing with nearly $7,000 of their savings. Months later, Brock found her coming out of a restaurant. Police claimed he stabbed her 11 times and then fainted. He subsequently was arrested, tried and exonerated after psychiatrists testified he has a "psychotic explosion," was "insane in a medical sense" at the time of the action and believed he would be safe if freed.

Maris Libel Suit Dismissed

NEW YORK (UPI)—A $550,000 libel suit brought by New York Yankee outfielder Roger Maris against United Press International was dismissed today in State Supreme Court.

Maris had charged in the action that a UPI dispatch "falsely charged" the baseball star with mimicking the unorthodox batting stance of a rookie outfielder for the San Francisco Giants.

GM Strike Drawing Closer To Settlement

The General Motors strike inched closer to national settlement with four more local unions reported as having reached agreements with GM plants.

Hope for a resumption of work by next Wednesday was also extended today by Michael Demech, chairman of the bargaining committee of Local 731 at the Ternstedt Division, Trenton, who said the locals were looking for a conference to be called in Detroit over the weekend to vote on the national contract.

Demech said that as of this morning 52 of 130 locals had ironed out issues with their plants. Yesterday the total was 48. Ternstedt and Local 731 reached agreement late Thursday night but picket lines are being continued at the plant until the national strike ends.

American Motors Talks Progress

DETROIT (UPI)—American Motors and the United Auto Workers union neared agreement today on a national economic contract in bargaining against a midnight Thursday strike deadline.

But one of the main issues separating the company and union was whether or not the 1964 contract will include the profit-sharing concept first written in 1961.

Edward L. Cushman, AMC vice president, and Douglas Fraser, director of the UAW American Motors Department, agreed Tuesday night that profit sharing, alleged wage inequities and demands listed by the company were the only roadblocks in the way of settlement for a new three-year pact for 26,000 workers.

"We'd like to see everything settled," Demech said, "the people are eager to get back to work." The policy of not resuming work until all locals have reached agreements was decided on at the union's national convention in Atlantic City last year, Demech said. The strike is now in its 20th day but a national contract was ironed out on Oct. 5.

According to Demech, the strike will not end until the local unions meet to ratify both the national contract and the local agreements. Pickets marched at only two Ternstedt gates today rather than at all six as was the case yesterday. Demech said management decided to go along with the agreement to open only the two gates. He said yesterday all six had been opened and that this was not in accord with the agreement reached last week.

Senior Citizens Given $1,500

The Bucks County Commissioners yesterday allocated $1,500 towards the building fund of the Bucks County Retired and Senior Citizens.

The grant completes the $3,000 pledge made by the commissioners earlier this year.

Council Slates Hearing On Grandview's Problems

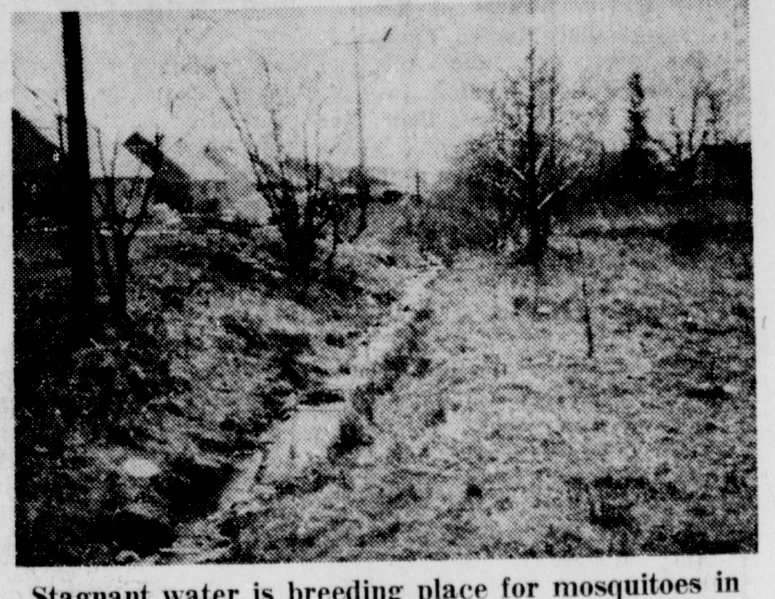

Grandview Estates residents cited dirty, rat-infested drainage ditches which breed mosquitoes. This one is near Rennard Lane.

This trash and debris-filled drainage ditch is near Rennard Lane looking toward Deloro Drive.

Old rubber tires and overgrown weeds line this drainage ditch at Deloro Drive and Melvin Ave.

Stagnant water is breeding place for mosquitoes in this drainage ditch off Trenton Road at Grandview Estates.

By BEN McELVEEN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Grandview Estates, Morrisville, is plagued with rats, mosquitoes, dirty drainage ditches, speeders, a lack of stop signs and hunters, residents have told borough council.

But last night, the borough fathers, after hearing the residents' complaints, promised to do something about them.

A public meeting has been called by the council's sanitation committee at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 27, in Grandview School to air their grievances.

Complaints Referred

Council President Michael Demech also tried to refer each of the residents' other complaints to the proper officials for further action.

John Hoffman, president of Grandview Civic Association, led a delegation of residents before the council meeting in borough hall. The residents had complained before, principally about mosquito and rat-breeding drainage ditches, but with little or no results.

"We've already got encephalitis down in Camden," Hoffman said last night, "and we don't want it here."

A Council Unit Date

Finally, the council's sanitation committee headed by Councilman John Solt, announced a mutually agreeable date for the public session on Grandview's problems.

Charles Winkelman, a Grandview resident, renewed his complaints about continued speeding in the section. Councilman Nicholas Pelehaty, a member of the police committee, said police are already working on this matter.

Demech added that he would refer the matter to the police chief and promised action "immediately."

Hunters Cited

Still another resident, Allen Straub, brought up a new complaint about two hunters who were target practicing in the lower part of Grandview in a wooded area. Mayor Robert C. Crowell suggested he call the police the next time he sees it.

Hoffman related the complaints about both drainage and lack of proper stop signs in Grandview.

Borough Manager Robert H. Steward said the state highway department has ordered all stop signs to be standardized. There were continued studies of new stop sign placements going on, he said.

Joseph D. Reitzel of 201 Osborne Ave., Morrisville, lodged several complaints with council. They included a question of when a U-turn was illegal, why stop signs are so varied, why bicycles which have been converted to motor-bikes aren't licensed, a serious parking problem on Sundays on Osborne Ave. and related how a news-dealer was recently struck down by a bicycle.

Admits He Got Ticket

The council took each item as it came and attempted to answer it or refer it to proper officials. Demech admitted he had mistakenly passed a stop sign recently. He got ticketed, and he paid his fine, he said. Hoffman commented, "If our children get killed, it's going to be too late for stop signs and a crackdown on speeders. Something has got to be done now."

Demech echoed his sentiments. "It has got to be done, and we're going to do it," he said.

In other action, the council—Approved a motion by Councilman Joe Catania to lift the water ban put in effect this summer in the borough.

—Authorized the investment of $40,000 in the bank to obtain the interest.

—Okayed a motion to refund Carol L. Walsh a $10 per capita tax which she had paid, although she is under 21.

—Approved replacement of lights with mercury lamps at the following locations — Hillcrest and Lafayette Aves., on Barclay and Lafayette Aves., on E. Franklin St. and on Riverside Ave.

Demech said the funds for new lights were depleted for this year and no more could be installed until funds are made available in next year's budget.

Fund Set Up For New Borough Hall

Morrisville Borough Council last night established a capital reserve fund to be used to set aside monies earmarked for a new municipal building.

This action by council marked another step as the borough fathers continued their long drive to make a new municipal hall a reality.

Council President Michael Demech, who has continuously promised the borough a new hall, appointed a building committee, headed by himself, on Jan. 14.

Committee Named

The committee, set up to investigate ways and means of financing and building such a structure, includes Councilmen Joseph Catania, Nicholas Pelehaty, Tom Groom, Thomas Rohner and Councilwoman Mrs. Florence Krause. Borough Manager Robert M. Steward was also named to the committee.

The committee has inspected several sites but has not decided yet on which it will use. They are on Delmor Ave., at Palmer St. and Cox Aves. and former church building on Union St.

Demech said on Feb. 11, shortly after setting up his building committee, that he was very much in favor of a new municipal building to house the borough offices, police headquarters and possibly a library.

Ground Break Cited

Demech said then he hoped to break ground for the building by the end of 1964.

Last night, the council approved a resolution establishing a capital reserve fund at the Morrisville Bank.

Demech commented after its passage, "This is for a project we've been looking forward to, and we're going to push it through."

Three Fires Quelled In Morrisville

Rummage Sale Set By WSCS

The semi-annual rummage sale sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Morrisville Methodist Church will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock tonight and from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. tomorrow in fellowship hall.

The church is located at Maple and Taft Ave., one block off Trenton Road behind the Lincoln Apartments.

Chairman Mrs. William Paff said that household items and clothing will be on sale. The sale will benefit the WSCS for its many work projects and for contributions toward the new building fund.

Yardley Gets Sewer Grant

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved a federal grant of $151,680 to the Yardley Borough Sewer Authority, Congressman Willard S. Curtin (R, Bucks-Lehigh) announced yesterday. The money will go toward costs of an interceptor sewer, force main and pumping station with a total estimated cost of $515,600, Curtin said.

The grant was made under the provisions of the Water Pollution Control project of HEW, according to Curtin.

Morrisville's two fire companies battled three blazes yesterday, including one in which a blow torch accidentally set off a house fire.

Frank Cowell, borough fire chief, said John Musrock of 63 Delaware Ave. was using the torch to burn off paint on the side of his house. The torch set fire to the house which burned the outside wall and roof of the two - and - a - half story frame house.

Cowell said no estimate of damage was made yet.

40 Firemen Out

The fire alarm was turned in at 12:35 p.m. and about 40 firemen from both Union and Capitol View Fire Companies responded. Cowell said the fire was put out within minutes.

Cowell said Musrock was apparently removing the paint by torch in order to repaint his house.

The two other fires yesterday were a gas stove fire in the morning at the home of Isaac Heath's at 2 Corliss Ave., and a car fire on S. Pennsylvania Ave. at Post Road at 7 p.m.

Cowell said both fire companies responded to these fires. He said Heath, former borough health officer, had turned on his gas stove for heat and it went up in flames. Damage was confined to the stove, Cowell added.

Cowell said a wire shortage caused the auto fire. Damage was slight.
